Lived And Slept Here, Says Valedictorian

How Game Was Played All That Matters, Says George Johns

"On behalf of the graduating class of '38 it is my privilege, honor, and regret, to bid farewell to Newmarket high school and its many pleasant associations," said George E. Johns in the Valedictory address at Newmarket high school on Friday evening.

"Behind us lies the smooth path of happy school life, before us lies the broadening road of the future.

"Five years ago we were first-formers entering the school with awe and trembling, gathering in this hall and facing the formidable array of those stern-looking teachers. But that was before we had learned the meaning of being a pupil of this school; that was before we had shared in the thrilling victories and defeats of our various school teams, rugby, basketball, oratorical, debating and so on; it was before all those Monday morning assemblies, those Latin, science and history periods, those school dances; that was before anything.

"We had never heard Miss Cole tell of the beauties of the French language, or Mr. Mungovan rave of the mighty deeds of Napoleon; we had never dreamed of the miracles figures could perform under the guidance of Miss King, or found out from Mr. Kidd what the inside of an earthworm is like. We had never provoked Miss McDonald into a lecture on why we should do homework in fifth form when we had come this far without. We never even imagined Mr. Bastedo could sing Alouette, or mild Mr. Westbrook was a ruthless rugby hero. Here we worked, played, danced, sang, ate, yes, and I might say some of us even slept. Some of our happiest and unhappiest days were spent here, some of our proudest and also most humiliating moments.

"Looking back now it seems to me that the things we thought so important during the last few years are really of least importance now. Winning games and passing examinations mean little by themselves: it is the physical and mental development that accompany them that really count.

"To senior students the future always presents the same question: What are we going to do when we leave school? To many, our graduation means a continuation of schooling in college or university; to others, it means an entry into business life. But whatever it is we shall embark on an entirely new life, a life where it little counts whether we got a first or credit in upper school Latin. What really matters is how we played our games, that we gave our best in work or play, that we learned to use our powers of thought and how to apply ourselves, and that certain something that is so hard to express in words but may be indelibly stamped on our minds to mould our characters.

"No matter where we go, or what we do, the happy carefree high school days will have ended, but memories of this comparatively short time of our lives will remain fixed in our minds. Friendships made during this time both with students and teachers will always be an asset to us.

"Perhaps while at school we do not realize that the best friends that we have are our teachers. We, who have recently left school, recognize how intensely interested they were in us and how much we owe to them. A tremendous responsibility rests on their capable shoulders and to them we graduates would say that we are grateful and will always value their help and inspiration.

"To the students of this school in that much quoted phrase I say, 'To you we throw the torch; be yours to hold it high,' so that we may look back satisfied and say, 'They have not broken faith.'

"Now we go out from the N. H. S. in many directions toward many goals. A few of us shall become well-known, a few perhaps wealthy. Most of us, as we were in our school work, will be just ordinary. But, wherever we go, Newmarket high school goes with us. By what we are, our school will be judged.

"And so as we enter into life, mysterious and terrifying as it may be, let it be with heads high and hearts light. May we give you, Newmarket high school, every reason to be proud of us! Always we will be proud of you."

REVISION COURT MEETS

A great many assessment changes will be under review at the court of revision in the council chamber next Wednesday evening.

PRINCIPAL IS IN FAVOR OF NEW COURSES

Splendid Acting Marks Plays At Newmarket High School

Two splendid plays were given by the students of Newmarket high school at the annual commencement exercises last Friday evening.

"God Caesar" was directed by D. O. Mungovan. Barbara Davis made a splendid Calpurnia. Donald McBride did an exceptionally fine piece of posing as Taro. Victor Higginson made a convincing Caesar. Helen Nesbitt was a charming Cleopatra. Douglas Chalklin did well as a slave, and Kathleen Stewart of the staff and Elsie Smith were delightful as Egyptian dancers.

Miss Muriel McDonald looked after the costumes and Miss Annie King the stage setting.

Superb acting was turned in by Audrey Geer and James Tod, the principal actors in the second play. Directed by Miss Lorna Pearson, the play was "The Spite Fence." The stage was realistically arranged by Miss Florence Cole.

"Some say that there shouldn't be any competition," said Principal J. B. Bastedo. "With that I don't hold. A little friendly competition is a good thing. It is not to beat the other fellow, but to beat their own records.

"The only subjects on the new curriculum not being taught are household science and shopwork," said Mr. Bastedo. "If people are interested in giving their children a chance to study household science and shopwork, it is in their power to do so. I think it would be a good thing. Those familiar with the work in the public schools know, and it is too bad that it has to be dropped when pupils move to high school.

"It isn't our intention to overload students with outside work, but it is our belief that to make progress students must do some work at home. You can help by making conditions suitable. A student can't study with a lot of noise around, or with a radio in his or her ears. A student can accomplish more in an hour and a half under suitable conditions than in three or four hours otherwise."

"The Newmarket high school need take its hat off to none," said H. A. Jackson, the chairman. "It is second to none. It must be a great satisfaction to staff and board."

Miss King paid a tribute to W. L. Kidd, former science master. She said that she had been taught by Mr. Kidd.

A letter from E. A. Bogart enclosing his annual $25 prize stated that his mother, "Sarah Jane Caldwell," was the first pupil and for six weeks the only pupil of Newmarket grammar school.

A happy surprise was the announcement by Robert Dick of the awarding of six new $5 scholarships, to be called the W. L. Kidd scholarships by the high school alumni. These scholarships are for the greatest improvement shown. Winners were Norma Pegg, first form; Wm. Jelley, second form; Arthur Sweezie, third form; Blanche Evans, fourth form; George Johns, fifth form; Ena Forrester, senior commercial form.

Oyster-Eating Beef Ring Handles $1,000 In Beef

The Pine Orchard beef ring was described as a valuable community institution by the new president, Ross Armitage, at the annual supper at Pine Orchard last Friday night.

Mr. Armitage was elected president in succession to Charles Rose. Elmer Starr was re-elected secretary.

"We have 35 members," said Mr. Armitage. "Eight took full shares of 20 pounds of beef. The rest took half shares. We handled over $1,000 worth of beef.

"Everybody has been satisfied. We have had no complaints. It is an ideal arrangement for all of us."

Oysters, as in past years, were on the supper menu.

Mayor Questions Wisdom Of High School Debenture

Substantial Increase In Assessment After Revision Forseen By Mayor

The mayor's annual address to the taxpayers of Newmarket, is as follows: "The end of 1938 completes five years for me as mayor. During that period our debenture debt has been reduced from $424,-$08.52 to $265,975.61.

"The mayor and council cannot take the credit for this reduction. The debentures for 15 or 20 years, as the case may be, automatically become paid off at the end of the term. But something I am proud of is that during the five years no new debentures have been added to the town's debt, excepting the $17,000 to pay for the new well, and that the tax rate has been lowered from year to year. I hope also that a further reduction can be made for 1939. A small debenture debt and a low tax rate is the surest way to stimulate a boom in house building. The building trade gives employment to all classes of labor, and will automatically relieve unemployment.

1938 Assessment

"When the 1938 assessment was tabled, I found myself in a tough spot. Notwithstanding the fact that some members of the council expressed themselves as highly satisfied with the assessment and moved a raise in salary for the assessor, it was my duty to criticize the unusual assessment, which was $9,000 less than 1937, so I proceeded to investigate.

"It is now the duty of the court of revision to use their best judgment to correct the errors. When this is done there will be a substantial increase in the assessment over last year.

High School By-law

"I have made some investigations regarding manual training and household science as proposed to be taught in our high school. I talked with Dr. McArthur, deputy-minister of education, and he informed me that the whole idea thus far was an experiment and that there is a great shortage of competent teachers. The scheme will not only add $12,000 to our debenture debt, but it will be quite expensive to maintain, as the supplies used are costly.

"I asked several department heads in the factories if boys from high school could step into the factory, do the work and earn a reasonable salary from the start. Every superintendent I consulted had his doubts and favored the customary method, namely: A boy starts as an apprentice in a factory at a low wage and works up, learning the trade thoroughly. Why the taxpayers should be asked to pay the cost of this apprenticeship in a high school is rather hard to understand.

Electric Light Situation

"The electric light committee has overspent its budget in 1938. During the year the council was asked by the electric light committee to consider a plan to spend $25,000 over a period of three years and raise the money by debenture. I strongly opposed this move. Why should the general taxpayers, some of whom do not even have electricity in their houses, be called upon to pay this money to improve the electric light system? Mr. Rachar has stated that certain changes in the system will effect substantial savings. Whether or not this is true can only be shown by separate bookkeeping for the electric light department. I recommend that we start the new year by keeping the electric light figures in a separate account. Then the system will have to stand on its own feet, charge rates adequate to carry itself and provide for replacements and extensions.

Old Boys' Reunion

"Organization is under way for an old boys' reunion to be held the last three days in June and the first of July in 1939.

"The only way we could make a failure of it would be to run up a lot of expense and take two or three years to pay off the debt, as some other towns have done. We will adopt a different plan. Every method employed must pay its own way, so that we can keep out of the red at the finish. We can have a lot of fun, bring a lot of old boys and girls back to Newmarket for a visit and advertise the town all at the same time.

izens must join heartily. A special

"To attain this success the citstamp is being made for the post office to advertise the reunion in the Christmas mail. I call upon all citizens to write to their friends inviting them to our reunion, and also to hand the list of names and addresses of those friends to Mr. Herb. Gladman, the secretary. This will enable us to send a special invitation to them later, having first received from you, their proper names and addresses.

"Remember you have not done your duty if you have not written to these friends first yourself. Let us all pull together and make this reunion a great success.

"Be sure to attend nomination Friday, Nov. 25, at 8 p.m.

(Signed)

"S. J. Boyd, M. D., mayor."

WELFARE SOCIETY HEADED BY MRS. W. L. BOSWORTH

Election of officers of the Newmarket Children's Welfare Society was held in the council chambers, Monday, Nov. 21, at 3 p.m. The following officers were elected: president, Mrs. W. L. Bosworth; vice-president, Mrs. H. E. Lambert; secretary, Mrs. N. L. Mathews; treasurer, Mrs. Carl VanderVoort; representative, Mrs. C. G. Wainman.

M. O. H. WON'T STOP AT HOME BEAUTY WORK

"Considerable agitation is going on about town regarding licensing the hairdressers," said Dr. J. H. Wesley, M. O. H., in a statement this week.

"This is the situation as it appears to the man on the street," said Dr. Wesley. "That desire to be beautiful and to be admired is born with every individual, and we men have to hand it to the opposite sex, much to their undoubted credit, that they far outdo their men folk when it comes to the perfection of the art of personal beauty, and so it is in the present age the art of the lady's coiffure has reached such a high standard of perfection. At present there is probably not a village of any size or importance in the province where there is not at least one lady who has expensive equipment, devotes her time to hairdressing, and makes a comfortable living by doing so. And all this specialty has developed in the last few years. Many of us can remember the first automobile that came to town, and yet the hairdressing business came after the car.

"The ones in town asking for a by-law by which all hairdressers would be licensed are the present hairdressers who have shops and more or less expensive equipment, where they are prepared to give all kinds of work to the hair, face and scalp that will transform an ordinary face and a brush-pile to one of great beauty and attraction.

"The object of having all hairdressers in town operating under a license is claimed to be for the benefit of the public. Greater care and cleanliness would be practised to prevent skin diseases of a contagious nature. Only those owning or operating a shop, having a license, and contributing to the coffers of the town, would be allowed to do business. This would not mean that anyone could not comb his own hair any way he liked, but it would mean that all travelling artist hairdressers about town, who are not lucky enough to do business in a modern beauty parlor, would have to stop.

"I am in favor of every means of protecting the health of our people. It is said that cleanliness is next to godliness. Therefore, if licensing these workers is going to improve their work, I am in favor of a town by-law for that purpose, but I would not be in favor of restricting the good work of the house-to-house artist as long as she has a license, conforms to the terms of the by-law, and is a resident of the town. And here are the reasons. Not all the sick or afflicted ones are able to attend at the physician's office; so not all the ones requiring to keep a presentable appearance according to the mode of the times, are able to go to the hairdresser's parlor, even though they can get much better service by doing so. Perhaps the mother cannot leave her family, perhaps a lady is afflicted in some way and requires service at her house, or perhaps it is a grandmother who requires a haircut or a finger-wave, for we all love to see dear old grandmother fixed up and keeping her youthful appearance with the rest of the family.

"A meeting of the board of health is to be called in the near future to consider the advisability of asking the town council to pass a by-law to license all barber shops and beauty parlors in the town."

N. Gwillimbury Contest Is Possible, Not Likely Here

Present Newmarket Councillors Would Like A Little Competition

Nominations for municipal council take place Friday evening in the town hall. It is expected that Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd, Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales, Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale and Councillor W. W. Osborne will re-offer for sure.

Councillors Wm. Dixon, A. D. Evans and A. V. Higginson all say that they will re-offer if there is any competition or sign of interest in municipal affairs.

Fred A. Lundy, former reeve, told The Era that he had been approached by some Main St. business men, and that he had made the proposition to them that he would run if they would find at least four other business men who would run for office.

"If the big taxpayers aren't interested in municipal affairs, I don't know that I am," said Mr. Lundy. "I don't see why I should offer my services if they won't."

North Gwillimbury nominations too take place tomorrow. There is some indication that there may be a contest this year, although there have been acclamations for the past couple of years. Interest in North Gwillimbury municipal affairs has always been keen.

While nominations are tomorrow, it will not be known until Saturday how many will qualify.

Witness Thinks Death Car Was Going At High Speed

Change In Traffic Lights Recommended by Coroner's Jury Under Dr. Dales

A coroner's inquest under Dr. L. W. Dales was held in the town hall on Tuesday evening to inquire into the death of Harry Harris, 48, King township, as a result of an accident at the Yonge and Eagle Sts. intersection on the evening of Nov. 10.

The jury brought in the following verdict: "We, the jury empanelled to inquire into the death of Harry Harris, find that the deceased came to his death at approximately 9.15 p.m. on Nov. 10, 1938, on Yonge St. at the Eagle St. intersection by being hit or struck by an automobile driven by James C. Cockburn, Grandview Ave., Toronto."

A rider was also attached to the verdict: "We, the jury, recommend that some alteration be made in the trip system of operating the traffic lights, for the protection of pedestrians at the Yonge and Eagle Sts. intersection, approximately one mile west of Newmarket."

The jury was composed of E. A. Boyd (foreman), Angus West, George Byers, Charles Holmes, Joseph Smith, B. W. Hunter, Thomas Cook, and Joseph Spillette. N. L. Mathews, K. C. acted for the crown.

Dr. J. G. Cock, who performed an autopsy testified at the inquest that Harris had received multiple fractures of the skull, fracture of both jaws and both legs, and numerous other injuries, and that the injuries were sufficient to cause death. A stomach analysis was not made but there was no evidence of alcohol, the doctor stated.

"I was standing on the northeast corner facing west all by myself," Miss Mosi Doane told the jury. "I saw a car coming from the north at a high speed, so I waited until it passed and then I heard a bump and I looked around and saw a man being tossed up into the air and then he landed on the road. I don't know where the man came from, as the thump was the first thing I heard, but I knew Harris by sight.

"The car that was coming fast was the one that struck Harris and I would estimate its speed at between 55 and 60 m.p.h., which is faster than the usual speed. I don't believe the car slackened speed before the accident, and I didn't hear brakes or a horn, nor did I see the car swerve. The car went on three or four carlengths, then stopped and backed up, and then I went on across the road.

"The stop-light was green to southbound traffic all during the accident, so Harris would be walking against the traffic. The car that I had just got out of was stopped on the east side of the road just north of Eagle St. and it had its lights on."

Robert R. Cockburn, father of the driver of the car, stated that he was in the front seat with his son and that they were returning to Toronto after hunting partridges north of Barrie. "Our speed was between 45 and 50 m. p.h. all the way from Barrie."

Resigns From School Board

On account of ill-health, George D. Wark has tendered his resignation as chairman and as a member of the Newmarket high school board. Mr. Wark has been a very busy man ever since he retired from business, doing a great deal of work for the hospital, the high school and Trinity United church. He has now felt the need of relinquishing some of his many duties.

At its last meeting, the high school board appointed W. J. Patterson, A. N. Belugin, Rev. Dr. W. D. Muckle and Principal J. B. Bastedo as a committee on the by-law for the extension of the high school. Mr. Wark was not present. A letter from him stated that his resignation was in the hands of the county clerk.

DR. MacMILLAN DIES IN CALIFORNIA

Word has been received of the death of Dr. J. E. MacMillan of Pasadena, California, better known by the older residents of the township of Whitchurch as Ellsworth.

When he was a boy he lived with his father, John MacMillan, on the farm just east of the Bogarttown school, in the township of Whitchurch, and lived at the time the Bogarts and Widdifields flourished in that community.

He married E. Knowles, who at that time was the very beautiful daughter of George Knowles, and his wife, who was a sister to the Widdifields above mentioned. Dr. MacMillan's widow survives him.

Era printers take pride in their workmanship.

Just a week after he had been on his oil truck, Henry Blair died at his home, 14 Raglan St., last Saturday aged 62 years. The funeral was on Tuesday, with interment at Newmarket cemetery.

Mr. Blair had not been in good health for two years past but had been ill only a week. He was born at Albion in Peel county and married Lucy Homer, English by birth, at Albion.

He has lived in Newmarket the last 20 years. He worked at one time in the Cane factory and later in the Davis tannery. He carried on a service station on Main St. for eight years and then became a wholesale gasoline agent four years ago.

NO HOCKEY YET

Hockey, it seems, is still as dead as a dodo, in this championship town. There won't be any ice this summer, seems to be the general opinion. No word of any hockey plans was to be obtained this week.

KETTLEBY

Reta West Weds Clarence James

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, Nov. 19, at Aurora United church parsonage, when Reta Marion, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. West, of Kettleby, was united in marriage to Clarence W. James, son of Mr. and Mrs. John James, of Hamilton. The Rev. Dr. E. J. Thompson officiated.

The bride wore a becoming costume of navy blue crepe and satin, with navy accessories. Her only ornament was the gift of her mother, a silver locket. With this she wore a shoulder corsage of red sweetheart roses.

After a trip to Hamilton and points west, the happy couple will reside in Toronto.

On Thursday afternoon, Nov. 17, Mrs. Chas. West held a trousseau tea in honor of her daughter, Reta, a bride of Saturday.

Mrs. E. B. West, aunt of the bride, poured tea, assisted by Miss Huldah Cull and Mrs. Alfred Hamilton.

MEN BEHIND SCENES MADE SERVICE POSSIBLE

In reporting the memorable service at Trinity United church on Armistice Sunday, The Era did not mention that a committee of four, Wesley Brooks, Harvey McCordick, H. E. Gilroy and L. P. Cane, were responsible for securing the names for the window, planning the seating, and arranging the lunch served to the visitors. As clerk of the session, Wesley Brooks had the chief responsibility. Charles Lepard, as pew stewart, helped with the seating arrangements, Rev. R. R. McMath and Illtyd Harris, the organist, planned the service.

Era printing costs little.

COURT OF REVISION

The meeting of the court of revision takes place next Wednesday evening in the council chamber. The mayor has arranged to appeal all assessment changes made this year. This should not necessarily mean that none of these changes will be accepted but that all will be subjected to scrutiny. Each assessment should be reviewed on its merits, without regard to who the property-owner may be. If an assessment has been unreasonably high and has been lowered it should be allowed to stand, but if an assessment has been unreasonably lowered it should be restored to its former level. No assessor can be infallible. That is the reason for the court of revision. If the assessor has gone astray, in the opinion of the court of revision, and assessment is to quite an extent a matter of opinion, in any or a number of assessments then it is up to the court of revision to correct them. It is said that the large number of assessment changes this year have benefitted almost entirely more well-to-do citizens and not workmen. It is more expensive properties that have fallen most in value, and perhaps these citizens have been more deserving of taxation relief. On the other hand, any move shifting a tax burden, however slight, from well-to-do citizens to other citizens, many of them less well-to-do, deserves careful scrutiny.

THAT WHEAT BONUS

Is the federal government justified in paying to the farmers of western Canada a bonus on their wheat? The government is likely to have to pay between thirty and fifty million dollars to the western Canada farmers this year, it is estimated. The government undertook to see that the farmer got the equivalent of 80 cents for his grain at Fort William. The Fort William price was 62 cents at the end of September and 60 cents at the end of October. In other words, when the western farmer sells his wheat, three-quarters of the purchase price is coming from the customer and one-quarter from the government. That is a handsome bonus.

Is It Fair?

Is it fair? Some think not. The Searle Grain Company has a very good answer to give. This bonus is paid by the people of all parts of Canada, this company says, and it benefits the farmers of the west most. But the bonus will be spent principally in buying from eastern Canada, that is, Ontario and Quebec, so that these provinces will be reimbursed for the heavier taxation that they must bear to pay the bonus. More than that, the Searle Grain Company estimates that the farmers of western Canada have sold overseas over $7,000,000,000 worth of wheat in the past 60 years, and that they have spent most of this huge sum of money in eastern Canada.

The Tariff Complaint

The Searle Grain Company goes further and points out that western farmers have sold in open competition on world markets, "but have never been permitted to purchase their goods at prevailing world prices from the countries which bought their wheat, but on the contrary have been obliged to make, on every dollar's worth of goods they have purchased, an extra contribution in money which has gone partly into the coffers of the dominion government and partly into the treasuries of all Canadian manufactures and industries. This has been brought about by means of the Canadian tariff structure." The Searle Grain Company estimates that the western farmers are "penalized" by the tariff to the extent of $50,000,000 a year, that is, plenty to pay the wheat bonus.

NEW TRADE TREATIES

Only experts will be in a position to make a guess as to the effects of the new trade treaties with the United States and Great Britain, but we may all agree or disagree with the general principle involved. Needless to say, the staff of dominion government experts who have made the treaties believe that the treaty will be advantageous to Canada as a whole. They have made what they call "concessions" and they have received concessions, but they believe that they have gained more than they have lost.

When Is A Concession A Gain?

It is worth while stopping to think for a moment what is meant by "concessions." If Canada makes a tariff concession to the United States, it is a concession from the point of view of the industry or district in Canada which has been receiving protection, but it may be a gain from the point of view of most Canadians, that is, consumers. Unless a concession is made by an industry such as farming in which a very large proportion of people are engaged, it would seem that more Canadians will benefit from each concession than will lose. But the problem is more complicated than that. John Smith may feel that he has gained by a trade treaty if it permits him to buy an imported article, say, an electric iron, more cheaply than he could have bought it before from a fellow Canadian, John Brown. But perhaps he has been selling something to John Brown, and now John Brown won't be able to buy from him. So we have to look at tariff changes both to see how they will affect our purchases and our sales. If a tariff concession will permit us to buy more cheaply, we must also consider whether it will take buying power from our customers, or from our customers' customers, and if it does whether we or our customers will get new customers in the country with which we have made the new trade arrangement.

Ad Absurdum

As we said in the beginning, only experts will be able to guess at the final results. Generally speaking, however, freedom of trade is a good thing. For instance, if a tariff wall were set up between Ontario and Quebec neither province would be richer. Each would find the cost of living a little higher, for it would be necessary for Ontario to build cotton mills and for Quebec to build woollen mills. Quebec would have to build automobile factories and Ontario have to manufacture products, now supplied entirely or partly by Quebec. Each province would want to be self-sufficient. There would be producers in each province calling for higher tariffs all the time.

Hard To Go Back

More than that, after the tariff wall had been in existence for a while, it would be almost impossible to do away with it. To abolish it might ruin a new mushroom automobile town in Quebec or a cotton factory town in Ontario. Tariffs are an exception to the rule that it is easier to tear down than build up. Tariffs allow industries to grow that would not grow naturally, without protection. In the case of Ontario and Quebec it is obvious that we are better off, and the people of Quebec are better off, without a tariff wall between us. But so far as the tariff wall between Canada and the United States is concerned, we are in the same position as we would be if there were a long-established wall between Ontario and Quebec. It could not be abolished without injuring a lot of people on both sides of the border.

No Good Reason

We may well say that we would be better off had there never been such a tariff wall built, or we may say that the reason for the tariff wall against the United States was in the first place a nationalistic reason, that the purpose was to build ourselves into a more self-sufficient nation, but the fact remains that having built the wall we cannot suddenly tear it down. As the people of Canada and the United States could never possibly be engaged in war with each other, there is no good reason for either to want to be economically independent of the other. The only justification for our tariffs is that their removal might ruin many people in both countries. Without tariffs, Newmarket might not be a thriving industrial town, or with the increased markets, Newmarket's industries might be much more successful. No one can say, but the tariff experts can make a pretty shrewd guess.

Ontario Farmers Somewhat Compensated

Gradual removal of tariffs between Canada and the United States would be in the interests of the majority of people of both countries, but it is not likely to come about in any hurry because the manufacturers, who like tariffs, are more influential than the average person, and the interests of a great many other people, employees, and the people who sell to employees, are bound up with those of the manufacturers. For instance, if Newmarket were to lose its great industries, Newmarket property values would fall to a fraction of their present figure, and if Ontario were to lose many industries, our farmers would lose many of their best customers. We in Ontario benefit more from the tariffs than do the people of the west or the extreme east. Our farmers have to pay more for their agricultural implements, but they sell their products to an industrial population. They lose and they gain. Of course, Ontario might have developed as an industrial province without tariffs, but probably not as much as she has done with tariffs. Perhaps, if the tariffs were suddenly removed, Ontario's industries would be able to hold their own and would prosper more in a larger free-trade market.

Credit To King Government

These are the questions which Mr. King and his government have to consider when they start lowering tariffs. Ultimate removal of the trade barriers between Canada and the United States would mean greater prosperity for the two countries, but it is a goal that we are unlikely to reach for a long, long time. Progress must be slow to avoid too extensive injury to established industries and before we get very far governments which believe in lower tariffs will give way to governments that do not. In the past, the tariff trend has been upward. Perhaps present-day nationalism throughout the world will give way to internationalism and to the revival of international trade through the removal of trade barriers. Tariffs are a cause of international hatred and ultimately of war. They cause more unemployment than they create. The King and Roosevelt administrations deserve great credit for the constructive trade agreements which they have just negotiated with each other and with Britain.

IN GOOD COMPANY IN A SMALL WAY

The writer had the pleasure of attending the Royal Winter Fair luncheon in honor of Baron Tweedsmuir at the Royal York hotel, Toronto, on Monday. It was a buffet luncheon and there were no speakers. The governor-general sat down to eat his lunch, but most of the other guests stood about talking. "Mitch" Hepburn sat with the governor-general for a while, and chatted. At another point we saw "Mitch" wrap an affectionate arm around the neck of G. Howard Ferguson, to the amusement of all. "Fergy" is looking older, and we don't believe any rumors about him accepting the Conservative leadership. A friend insisted on introducing the writer to Mr. Ferguson. He was still the endearing old politician, for he pointed a hand at the writer, and said roguishly: "Oh, I know that fellow." Of course he didn't, but it was nice of him to pretend he did. One of our party asked him about his plans, presumably referring to the Conservative leadership, and he replied with a twinkle, and in stock phrase, that he hadn't made up his mind yet. There were lots of other well-known people present, including our Newmarket neighbor, Sir William Mulock, and our member, W. P. Mulock, M. P. Incidentally, we didn't meet Baron Tweedsmuir, but we had a good look at him. He is just a little fellow, with a powerful intellect. We stood in a hall of the Confederation Building in Ottawa waiting to be admitted to the office of Dr. Booth of the economics branch, Canadian department of agriculture. On the door at the other side of the hall were the words "Chief Egg Inspector." Now, I don't suppose that an egg has ever entered the office of the chief egg inspector. He does his inspection at long range by the administration of egg inspection from Nova Scotia to British Columbia.

In days of yore everyone acted as his own egg inspector. At least everyone who broke an egg had to investigate its merits before it was used. Now, in dark chambers with single beams of light, experts grade each egg. Few people would return to the former way. Yet we do have to pay for these services. With what?

In the upper Ottawa Valley the people speak with a broad Scotch accent. They say their "a's" away down in their throats and with solemn emphasis. Their long vowels are all the more noticeable because of their frequent use of such words as "lad." Nor is this Scotch accent confined to those of lesser education. We stayed with a family where the wife and mother is a former teacher. She speaks quickly and with a very marked accent. Her children speak more quickly and with a more marked accent. Apparently relative isolation in a fertile strip near the river has resulted in a carryover of the accent even into a day of travel and radio and other influences.

They are fine, intelligent folk over in that section of the province. We had a meeting at Renfrew and another at Carleton Place. The careful Scotch took readily to the unaccustomed technique of the small study group. They adopted the use of the method with enthusiasm. They gave real evidence of using it for organizing co-operative business. Canny business, of course: but co-operative business.

One of the Ottawa newspapers made a remarkably generous suggestion in a recent editorial. We are to give Germany part of the Belgian Congo as a further concession for the maintenance of peace in our time. On no account are we to return any of the territory gained by Britain from Germany in 1918. It is so much better to give the property of another nation as we did with Czechoslovakia.

Ah! I have a grand plan: I shall divide my neighbor's farm and present portions to other neighbors as Christmas presents. I shall be known to myself as "the good neighbor."

Some useful material on the study of world peace has reached us. It is a study outline for six meetings on the Vassar Peace Pact, the document prepared by the World Youth Congress which met last summer in Vassar, New York. The outline is prepared by the Canadian Youth Congress. Perhaps some of our York county folks who are interested in world peace would care to hold meetings on the subject.

Doctor: I don't like to bring this up, but that check you gave me came back.

Patient: I don't like to mention this either, but so did my gout.

POLICE COURT

Swamp Stuff Was Too Strong

Convicted on a charge of having illegal liquor, Russell Tansley, Newmarket, was fined $100 and costs of $14, or three months, by Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe in police court here on Tuesday. A similar charge laid against David Hartford and Richard Thompson, both of Newmarket, was dismissed. On a second charge of being intoxicated in a public place Tansley was fined an additional $10 and costs of $12, or ten days. The liquor was ordered to be confiscated.

"On Nov. 3 at 3 a.m. I went to Charles St. and found the three accused," stated Constable James Sloss. "Thompson and Hartford were standing beside the Hartford car and Tansley was lying on the ground with a bad cut over his eye, and he smelt strongly of liquor and couldn't stand on his feet. I asked if there was any liquor in the car and Hartford said there wasn't any, but on searching the car I found a bottle under the front seat. Hartford had been drinking but he was not intoxicated and he told me he got the liquor outside of Holland Landing, and that he had been hired by the other two and that his expenses were to be paid.

"I brought Hartford and Tansley down to the cells and I would say that Tansley was paralyzed drunk," continued the constable. "It was four or five hours before Tansley woke up in the cells. An analysis of the liquor showed an alcoholic content of 40.36 per cent. It was swamp whiskey."

"When I examined the man in the police cells he was dead drunk," stated Dr. L. W. Dales. "It was not necessary to take a blood test."

"Could my condition have been caused by a blow on the head?" asked Tansley.

"No, not in my opinion," answered the doctor.

"Then I'll change my plea to guilty."

For having muskrats Thomas Shapcott, Toronto, was fined $10 and costs of $8.50, or 15 days. On a second charge of having a hen pheasant, Shapcott was fined $10 and costs of $4.25, or 15 days, the sentences to run concurrently. Harry Ashcroft, Toronto, was given the same penalty for having a hen pheasant. The charges of having a hen pheasant and muskrats laid against Wm. and John Smith, Mount Dennis, were dismissed.

"On Oct. 30, accompanied by Game Warden Gordon Buie we came to the premises owned by the Smith brothers, on the Holland Marsh, where Shapcott and Ashcroft were working," testified Game Warden Ernest Prosser. "We found six muskrat carcasses and five pelts, some parts of a gill-net, which is illegal, and also the remains of a hen and cock pheasant. Shapcott said he was only working there and that the skins, etc., belonged to the Smith boys, and that he knew nothing about them. We also found several rat-traps in the river but we can't say whose they were. Then Shapcott told me the pheasants were shot in the open season, but neither he nor Ashcroft had a license to show me, and it is illegal to shoot hen pheasants. I would say the pheasant had been shot five or six days anyway. As Shapcott wouldn't tell me who killed the rats and pheasant, I booked the charges against all four of them."

"Isn't it lawful to kill muskrats when they are destroying the crops?" asked Shapcott.

"Yes," answered N. L. Mathews, K.C., crown attorney.

"Why didn't they show us the damage if there was any or tell us about it?" asked Mr. Prosser.

"I will corroborate the evidence of Mr. Prosser and add that we found a boat on the river bank and on going up the river we lifted several rat houses," stated Mr. Buie. "When we asked at the house if they had any rat pelts or anything, they answered, no. As the rat is a vegetarian he might have eaten some of the carrots. I returned a second time, but the answers given me were still very evasive."

"Were there any carrots in the field at the time?" asked the magistrate.

"I don't know."

"We had a lot of carrots, etc., destroyed by the deer and rats and Smith gave me authority to shoot, and I couldn't shoot the deer, so I got the rats," stated Shapcott.

"I told the game wardens that I didn't know who shot the cock pheasant but I knew it was at the shack," said Ashcroft. "I don't know anything about the hen pheasant."

"As Shapcott and Ashcroft were at the shack when the pheasants were found, I find them guilty of having the hen pheasant," stated the magistrate. "I also find Shapcott guilty of having the muskrat pelts."

On a joint charge of not having lights on a tractor, Henry Green, Brampton, driver of the tractor, was fined $5 including costs, while the charge against Fred Timbers, Stouffville, owner of the tractor, was withdrawn.

County Constable Aubrey Fleury stated that he was called to an accident and found that the tractor, which was being towed by a car, had run into a car and that there were no lights on the tractor.

Convicted on a reckless driving charge, Thomas B. Williamson, Toronto, had his driver's license cancelled for 30 days and in addition was fined $10 and costs of $25.50, or ten days. The magistrate said that on account of the excellent driving record of Mr. Williamson he was cancelling his license only for a short time. J. G. Sneath, Toronto, was defence counsel.

"I was driving north on Yonge St., just north of Elgin Mills, on Oct. 8 at 2 p.m.," stated Edwin Sheppard, Aurora. "My two sisters were with me. Another car came from behind to cut out and it caught my front bumper. It went over the fence into the field but my car stopped, straddling the east side of the fence. I could see no reason for the other car to cut in so close. I was driving straight and didn't change my course. The damage to my car was $25 or $30, but no one in my car was hurt."

"There was no one hurt in either car?" asked Mr. Sneath.

"No," answered Mr. Sheppard.

"Did you hear a horn?" asked the magistrate. "No."

Wilson Anstey, Gormley, testified that he was driving directly behind the Sheppard car and that Williamson passed him, then the Sheppard car, without stopping. The Sheppard car didn't change its course but the Williamson car cut in just before it got past and its rear bumper caught on the front bumper of the Sheppard car, stated Mr. Anstey.

"Did Sheppard apply his brakes when the Williamson car struck him?" asked defence counsel.

"Yes, he immediately applied them."

"When I arrived the Williamson car was in a field on the east side of the road and the Sheppard car was straddling the east fence," stated Provincial Constable A. O. Ferguson. "The Sheppard car left a skid mark of 70 feet on the pavement, while there was a skid mark of 86 feet on the road from the Williamson car, and it was 304 feet to where the car came to rest in the field. The fence will have to be partly replaced. The pavement is 30 feet wide at the point of the impact."

Mr. Williamson testified that he didn't like the manner in which Sheppard was driving his car and that he was also half way over the centre line, so he decided to pass. When he got nearly past, he heard a click but he never changed his direction, Mr. Williamson said. The front of his wheel turned right, so then he decided the safest way was to let his car drift till it stopped, and it went on into the field, Mr. Williamson stated.

"Did you sound your horn when you passed the Sheppard car?" asked the crown attorney.

"No, I didn't sound the horn, as I never sound the horn when I am passing a car."

"I am satisfied that Anstey is telling the story as he saw it and he said that Williamson turned in as he passed the Sheppard car," stated the magistrate. "There will be a conviction for driving in a manner dangerous to the public."

For failing to remain at the scene of an accident Ralph Sedore, Belhaven, was fined $10 and costs of $19, or 15 days. On a second charge of failing to produce an operator's permit he was remanded for sentence on payment of the costs. K. M. R. Stiver was defence counsel.

"On Oct. 24 at 7.30 p.m. east of Sutton, I met lights coming but saw no clearance lights so I pulled over to the extreme right," stated Keith Harris, Brechin, driver for the Harris transport. "The truck hit me, then drove on. I stopped my truck and got out but the other truck didn't stop. The impact was noticeable. My mirror and rack were broken and the tarpaulin was ripped. There was wood lying on the road from the other truck."

"Where did you stop after the impact?" asked Mr. Stiver.

"Approximately 125 feet down the road."

Chester Harris, who was also in the truck, stated that there was lots of room for the other truck to pass, and that the noise of the impact was quite loud.

While on his way to the accident County Constable Alex. McCallum stated that he saw the Sedore truck, so he stopped it. The mirror on the Sedore truck was broken and also the side rack and the uprights, the constable said. Mr. Sedore told the constable that he had been sideswiped by another truck ahead on the highway, he was not just sure where.

Mr. Sedore stated that a truck hit him on the highway but that he thought all they had hit was the mirror so he slowed down and opened the door to look back but the other truck was still going, so he proceeded on until he was stopped by a constable.

"This is a serious offence, to hit another car, then drive on," stated the magistrate. "You knew you had been hit and you know the rules of the road and if you haven't learned yet that you must remain at the scene of an accident, then it's time you did."

"I find that the evidence of traffic going into and leaving this house, as stated by Constable Sloss, is of little value, and only the large amount of liquor bought by the two accused is any proof, but people of their incomes could afford this amount," stated Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe, in dismissing a charge of keeping liquor for sale laid against Mrs. Jennie Hartford and John Marshall, both of Newmarket. Evidence on the charge was given last week and the previous week and the judgment was reserved one week. Frank Moore was defence counsel.

A claim for wages, amounting to $88.18, was paid, along with court costs, by Fred Mahoney out of court. The complainant was Harold Prosser.

The charges of possessing a still, spirits, and mash, laid against Tom Foster and Fred Hollingshead, were adjourned another week. Bail of $500 was renewed for Hollingshead.

On the charges of theft of six turkeys from the farm of Wm. Doane and four turkeys from Harry Haines, Bruce Hill, King township, was remanded to the Don jail one week for a mental examination.

A. H. Lam, Toronto, speeding, $10 and costs, charge laid by Provincial Constable A. O. Ferguson.

Chris H. Anger, Fort Erie, no chauffeur's license, $10 and costs, charge laid by County Constable Aubrey Fleury.

Defences For Canada Said To Be Stupidity

Says Jesus Driving Men Out Of Temple Not In Line With Jesus' Life

If Canada arms, that will only tend to drive more of his fellow countrymen to the support of Hitler, said Joseph Round, of Donlands United church, Toronto, in an address to young people at Wesley United church, Vandorf, on Tuesday evening.

Francis Starr, Bogarttown, was in the chair. Mr. Starr's father, Elmer Starr, recited a narrative poem, "The Unbarred Door," in which Indians spared the lives of a settler and his wife because they found his door unbarred and knew that "still his heart is right."

Mr. Round contended that Canada could not possibly defend herself and that any attempt to arm herself would be mischievous and wrong. He said that Hitler, whom he called insane, should be left to the German people and that they would solve the problem.

"We have over 7,000 miles of coast-line to defend and we have between ten and eleven million people," said Mr. Round. "A safe estimate of available man power would be one and a half million. Britain, with barely 350 miles of coast, has a standing army of over a million men, yet admits that her coastal defences aren't sufficient.

"Canada, as the result of building a bombing-plane factory and a great airport at Malton, has been put down on all the war maps of Europe as a source of supply for war material.

"Because of the risk involved in arming, and the complete insecurity of armaments, to enter on an arms race would be the most colossal stupidity Canada has ever embarked on.

"Love is the only thing which will solve our problems. We have to recognize that the unfair treaty of Versailles, imposed upon Germany and her allies by Britain and her allies, are the cause of our troubles today. After the war the democratic German statesmen, Bruening and Streseman, went to Britain and said: 'Give us trade treaties, relieve us of these intolerable burdens, or our people will go mad.'

MOUNT DENNIS PLAYERS PRESENT "LENA RIVERS"

The performance of the play, Lena Rivers, which was sponsored by St. Andrew's Presbyterian church on Tuesday night, was much enjoyed. The play was staged by members of Morningside Presbyterian church, Toronto. During the intermission selections were played on the violin by David Ferguson, accompanied on the piano by Miss Marjorie Andrews.

Young Folk Have Scavenging Bee

Puzzled Aurora citizens, who answered their doors on Monday evening to be met with requests for anything from an automobile crank to a newspaper bearing the date line of Jan. 10, were relieved to learn that it was not a wave of pan-handling they were facing, but merely a scavenger-hunt.

The scavenger-hunt, it was learned, was a stunt which formed one of the gayer evenings of the Y. P. A. of the Aurora Anglican church. Winners of the event were Evelyn Heard and Bernice McBride.

Following the hunt a lunch was served at Trinity hall.

Minister Of Health Will Attend H.S. Commencement

Exams Keep Students Busy Now; Will Have Time For Sports Later

It is expected that examination papers will be written and marked in time for the last day of the school term, Dec. 22. so that both students and teachers will have a holiday free of worry.

Juniors Go To City, Midland Next Week

Will Open Northern Series In Midland Arena On Monday Night

Are Scheduled To Play In Two Elimination Hockey Series

E. YORK LOSES IN S. P. A.

The Aurorans will meet Midland at 7.45 Monday evening in the Midland arena, it was learned from Bert Corbeau, Midland coach, last night. The game will be the opening one of the northern series which is being conducted on a "two-losses-and you're-out" basis.

Proceeds of the series, Coach Corbeau stated, will be divided among the teams participating in proportion to the number of games won. The Midland arena will be glad to offer the team opportunity for practice, so it is possible Aurora may head north instead of south for practice next week.

Midland has a first class team, well-backed and well-coached, and have been on the ice for about a month, so the Aurorans will have their work cut out for them on Monday.

The S. P. A. junior hockey elimination series got under way in Toronto on Saturday and continued on Tuesday evening. Of local interest was the game between Guelph and Young Rangers, in which the former squad was put out of the running by an 8-4 score.

Bill Wilson, an export from Aurora's Jubilee Juniors of last year, took part in the game on the Ranger line-up, drawing a major penalty when he tangled with Verity, of Guelph, behind the goal net.

Another Aurora export, Hugh Mair, took part in the game that saw his team, the Runnymede Juniors, wallop East York by 11-3. Hughie got credit for one goal.

Elimination of the East York squad, the only team to beat Aurora in the group last year, has local hockey experts puzzled, as Aurorans have been warned to look out for East York this year.

Experience, however, shows that S. P. A. standing gives little indication of what hockey ability will be later in the year, as many teams are only beginning to get on the ice at that time.

Aurora will not be called to play in the S. P. A. until next week, when it is likely they will have a chance against Stouffville, their hard-checking opponents of last season. This is just a guess, however, as no team has a definite say as to whom they will be drawn against.

Last year, Aurora's entry in the S. P. A. and in a series of exhibition games, enabled them to do better than usual in the group games. It is regarded as significant this year that East York and Stouffville are also entered in the S. P. A. and are reported to have had some practice already. Evidently these two clubs have no intention of being caught napping again.

The prospect is that Aurora will find the group leadership a tougher proposition this year. They have less of the old squad on hand and stronger competition coming up. The solution, the club management states, lies in practice and plenty of it.

There is plenty of good material on hand and this year's success will depend on how well it can be developed and put into shape. A dance is being held in Middlebrook's hall, Yonge St., on Friday night, to help the boys rent practice ice.

The team has also been included in a junior series which begins in the Midland arena next week. Other teams entered include Parry Sound, Bracebridge, Penetang, Midland and two entries from Barrie.

New uniforms have been obtained for the Aurorans from the same generous donor as last year, and this season will again see the boys clad in the purple and white. New goal pads are being bought this year and the equipment purchased last year has been kept in first-rate shape and is good for another season, Trainer Clarence Browning reports.

A fine trophy was presented to Clifford Chapman, who took first place in the ten-mile road race run on Thanksgiving day. To Mickey Smth, of Newmarket, and Davd Judd, Aurora, medals were presented in token of their having placed in second and third positions.

Arson Attempt Suspected In Service Station Blaze

The quick action of Mrs. J. Toole, Yonge St., in drawing the attention of Howard Morton, service station proprietor, to flames beside a car parked at the rear of his premises, saved the service station from being destroyed on Wednesday night of last week.

Behind the station is located a short-wave radio broadcasting station, and much valuable equipment would have been lost had the flames got a good start, it is believed.

Prompt work of the station attendant, using a chemical extinguisher, saved the car before the flames got a proper start.

An investigation of the causes of the fire disclosed a bottle near the car, in which a little gas still remained. This, Mr. Morton believes, points to the fact that an attempt at arson had been made. Police are investigating.

Loses Too Much, So Reeve Of King Township Resigns

J. P. Jefferson Blames Government For Farmers' Difficulties

Because of what he describes as dominion government discrimination against farmers and producers which made it impossible for him to continue his municipal work and at the same time make a success of his farm, Reeve J. P. Jefferson of King township will retire from office at the completion of his present term.

"By the time the producer pays the large distributors for storage, haulage and so forth, he is out of pocket," the reeve claims. Government controlled warehouses, spread throughout the dominion, were one solution to the problem, he suggested.

The Holland Landing marsh offered one example of waste, thousands of dollars worth of celery being left in the fields every year while celery was was being imported, he thought.

"The problems of the Holland marsh have been too much for me," Reeve Jefferson told York county council last week. "I am going to let someone else worry about them next year.

"When I come to county council I must hire men to run my farm and with the cost of transportation it is not a paying proposition," he stated.

Members of King township council presented the reeve with a club bag during the weekend on the announcement of his retirement. Councillor Thos. McMurchy made the presentation and Councillor C. Black gave an address lauding the reeve's work.

The board are reported to be well pleased at the collection of $2,000 and the decreased interest rate, which greatly lowers the church overhead.

Only Twelve Hundred Dollars Needed To Build Church In 1874

St. Andrew's Church Will Celebrate Anniversary On Sunday

Celebration of the anniversary of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, scheduled for next Sunday, has led to some investigation into the age of the church.

A dip into the old minute books of the church shows that in 1871 a number of Presbyterians were meeting in Mechanics' hall. In 1872 Rev. George Bruce was minister to the congregation. In that year, on a motion by W. C. Oliver, seconded by Mr. Shaw, D. Fotheringham, Mr. Wilson, Alex. McGilvery, John Kay and J. P. Eakin were appointed a committee to manage and transact the business of the Canada Presbyterian church in Aurora.

Mr. Fotheringham, however, was unable to act, and his place was filled by W. C. Oliver, who acted as secretary and in whose hand the minutes were written.

Shortly after, it was decided to ask that Rev. A. Duncan be appointed to act as moderator of the congregation of Newmarket and Aurora.

At a meeting held in Aurora on May 30, 1872, Messrs. Kay and McGilvery moved that "as soon as we have funds enough to build a church, viz $1,200, that we proceed at once with the matter."

At the next meeting, held in the home of J. P. Eakin, Mr. McNair promised the stone required for the foundation, together with pine logs. "It was decided to build at once," the minutes state. It was accordingly moved that two lots opposite Mechanics' hall be purchased, as a site for the church building.

That was all some 65 years ago, and next Sunday morning, Rev. W. T. McCree of Glebe Presbyterian church, Toronto, will preach the anniversary service.

The evening service will be taken by the regular minister, Rev. Kenneth McCreary. Evening services of the Aurora United church will be suspended to enable members of the United congregation to attend the anniversary service.

IMPERIAL BANK DEPOSITS GAIN-ASSETS HIGHER

Profits Higher Before Increased Taxes And Lower After, Statement Shows

Growth in both assets and deposits are reported by the Imperial Bank of Canada for the year ended Oct. 31. Profits, while reduced slightly after provision for increased taxes, were sufficient for dividends at the usual rate, for write-off of bank premises and provision for contingencies in the same amounts as in the previous year, and to add $11,343 to the profit and loss balance, which now stands at $649,375.

Including notes of and deposits with the Bank of Canada, cheques on and deposits with other banks, etc., cash totals were $26,901,860, or 17 per cent of the liabilities to the public, compared with $23,317,506, or 16 per cent of public liabilities a year ago. Assets which are quickly realizable, such as government bonds, other securities and call loans, with the cash, amounted to $101,195,040, which is 67 per cent of the public liabilities, the ratio being virtually unchanged in the period.

Deposits by the public total $141,563,277, compared with $132,198,089 12 months previously. Deposits bearing interest at $95,203,907 are increased some $4,000,000 and deposits not bearing interest also are up $4,000,000 to $36,084,302. There is a small reduction in deposits by the dominion government but provincial deposits are higher. The bank's own notes in circulation totalled $5,573,813, down from $6,044,775 a year ago, in accordance with the provisions of the statute under which currency circulation of chartered banks is gradually decreased, to be replaced by Bank of Canada notes.

The most notable change in the bank's investments is the increase in short-term securities and a corresponding decrease in long-term bonds. The bank now has $16,048,031 invested in government securities maturing in less than two years, compared with $11,750,146 a year ago and only $9,424,887 two years ago. In the last 12 months, investments in bonds maturing after two years have dropped to $33,458,273 from $38,533,500. Municipal bonds are increased nearly a million dollars to $5,071,148.

Current loans again show an increase, standing at $58,274,755, or about five per cent above a year ago. Call loans at $5,454,382, compare with $6,166,164 formerly. Provinces and municipalities have increased their loans somewhat in the period. Advt.

Victoria Square

Many citizens celebrated last Sunday by again attending worship. At the United church in the afternoon, Rev. Mr. Macdonald gave a splendid address from the text, "He Made Them Wander in the Wilderness 40 Years," Numbers 32:13.

Bro. Abner Martin spoke in the Heise Hill church. In the evening he delivered a special message to young people splendidly illustrated with nails of various sizes to represent a family. For the evangelistic service he spoke from the text "Is the young man Absolom safe?" II Samuel 18:29.

The Y. P. U. met at the usual time on Sunday evening in the United church and was addressed by the president. Miss Bessie Valliere.

The prayer circle met on Tuesday evening at the home of the Avisons. Rev. Mr. Hulbert of Newtonbrook was the guest speaker and a most pleasant and profitable time was spent by all who attended.

The Women's Association held their regular monthly meeting on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. R. E. Sanderson.

The mission circle will meet next Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the president, Miss Vera Nicholls.

Mr. Richard Rice leaves this community temporarily on Friday, Nov. 25, to visit his home in the Old Land and see his mother, who is ill. Everyone wishes Richard a very pleasant voyage and a safe return to Victoria Square again.

Friends are glad that David McClure and Leonard Frisby are both regaining their health again after their serious illnesses.

The Common Round

By Isabel Inglis Colville

FIRST DAY

"I suppose there will be a snow storm, a blizzard or an earthquake because I want to attend the Institute convention in Toronto tomorrow," mourned I, on Monday evening of last week.

"Why cross your bridges till you come to them," asked my better half, while mother observed comfortingly, "the weather broadcast only said snow FLURRIES."

However, in spite of premonitions of evil, the day dawned fair, although a biting wind howled through the trees, giving a good imitation of the swish of the waves, that is the one sound for which we are lonesome at Ingleside.

But, when we three women stepped into our reeve's car, for that gentleman had kindly allowed us to ride down with him, winds and waves were forgotten and we were ready for the day.

Arrived at the Royal York, one thing struck us all, and I was just going to remark on it, when Mrs. Toole said, "Do you notice the number of really young women here?" "So many more than the last session I attended," added Mrs. Harper.

They certainly were there in numbers, and all with a purposeful air, which seemed to say "we're here to get information, and learn all we can." They were a wide-awake bunch.

We had only to register before luncheon, so found time to watch the arrivals, and have more of a visit with other instituters, than often falls to the lot of we people, who only meet a few times in the year.

As Mrs. Toole and I both dislike facing high winds, and can get lost by turning around in front of the Royal York, we stayed put, and had our lunch right there, "and a good lunch, too."

At 1.30 p.m. we assembled in the convention hall, and it WAS an assembly, for a first day. I think it was, drawing on my limited experience, a record breaker. The session opened with the singing of "O Canada," and the Institute ode, after which, in the unavoidable absence of the mayor, we were given civic welcome by Mrs. Plumptre.

After welcoming us to the city, she spoke of the need of the urban and rural people for each other, and touched on the scope of the Women's Institute interests—that they are world wide. Mrs. McDowell, provincial president, then greeted the women. She said we must co-operate with the department of agriculture, and that our organizations will only be as strong as we make them by sending good representatives. She went on to say that home economics, efficiency and homemaking, were our principal aims. Home, she said, should be a very lovely place, outside and in. Books and music should play a great part in the life of the home.

We should all practise public speaking, and try to live up to the ideals we speak of. Her experience has taught her that a speaker should remember three things (1) to stand so she may be seen; (2) speak that she may be heard; (3) and sit down to be appreciated.

Have your material well prepared—something to say—and say it! And practise voice production.

Next came Mrs. R. J. Marshall, bringing greetings from the local council of women. She spoke of the freedom we Canadian women enjoyed and the responsibility such freedom entailed. Also, of the debt we owed our mothers and grandmothers, for the fight they made to gain women's rights.

She paid tribute to the first council of women, organized by women of 26 countries, with Lady Aberdeen as head, and begged us to use our votes seriously. Mrs. Marshall also said the institutes, being all united in one purpose, were stronger than the local council of women, who, being drawn from all sorts of different organizations, had their interests divided.

Mrs. Avalon, of the housewives' association, then asked to address us.

She said that they organized to enquire into prices, and to try to understand the spread between producer and consumer.

She said they would like to come in contact with, and work with, farm women, for if women banded together—well, the men would be afraid—hence, women would gain their ends easily, and also we women should have representatives where laws are made.

The secretary treasurer's statement followed, and a few words from the chairman, Mrs. Abbott. She voiced the sentiment that women hate war, and hopes peace may continue. She spoke of our program stressing agriculture and home economics.

Mrs. James Howell then sang "O Lovely Night," and "In the Garden of Tomorrow," very pleasingly.

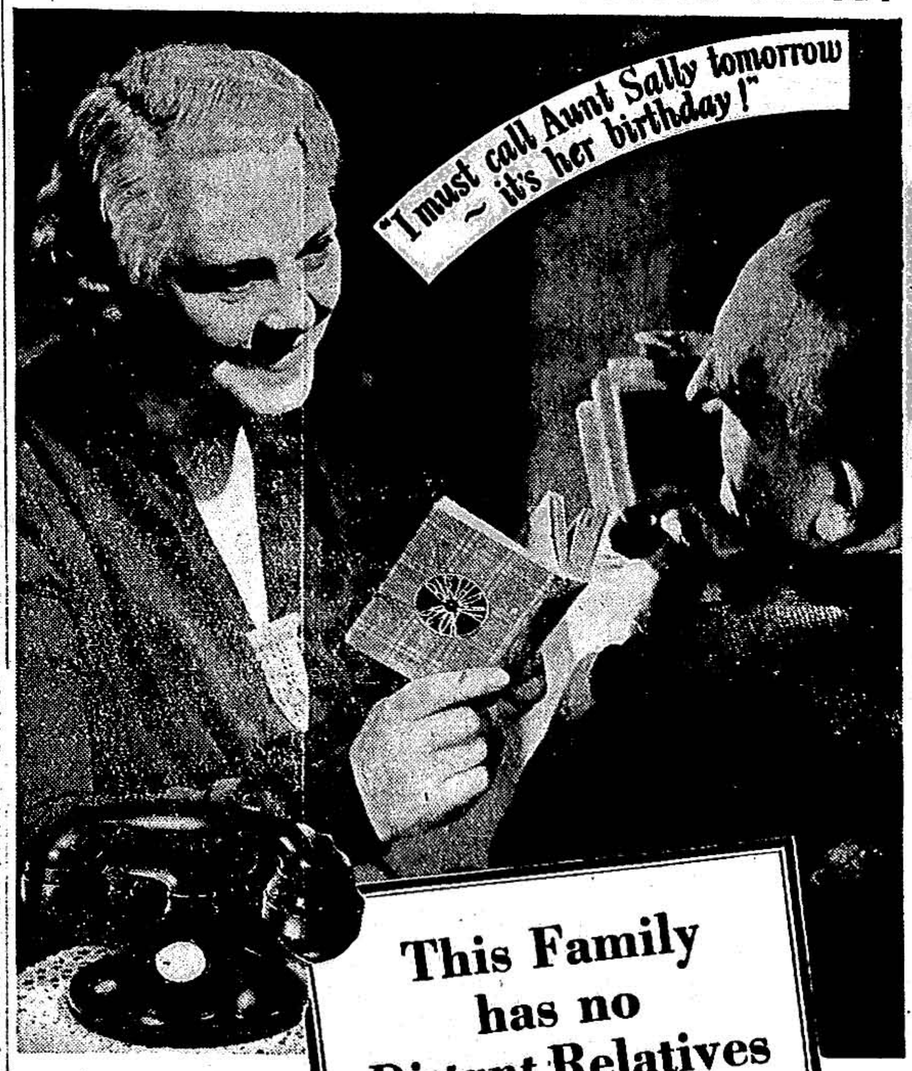

Mrs. McCulloch gave reports on agriculture and Canadian industries. Reports were received from 17 out of 18 institutes and through their convenors they told of their efforts toward farm beautification, reforestation, reclaiming unused land for reforestation, of papers on relation of plant world to civilization, birds in relation to agriculture, and for roll-call study of bird calls, animals, and flowers.

In Miss McDermand's absence, Mrs. White reported on education. She felt that each year education shows marked advance. What does education include? She begged that secretaries be explicit in sending in reports, so that they may be of benefit to district and area conventions. They show a great interest in adult education and some outstanding material was: a report of an old E. A. convention, story of the Institute for the Blind, the new course of study, university education for women, a teacher tells mothers what is expected of them, girlhood of Queen Elizabeth, the coronation, crime, township reeve talks on township affairs, music and singing, beauty culture, fault finding, Mendelssohn, Rockefeller Foundation, living, not just existing, Institute handbook, some ways to gain knowledge, how can a family spend its evenings, what spot would you like to see in England, ten words on a woman in your own section, and fix up your school grounds.

Mrs. White said that many of our school grounds were a disgrace and our institutes should make an effort to add some touch of beauty to their dinginess.

Alas, at this point we had to leave, knowing that we were missing many treats by having to go, but duty called, and we would not be true Instituters if the call of home were neglected. So, as we drove homeward, through the fast gathering darkness, we had lots to ponder on, for when women meet in conclave, something of real worth is carried from that meeting—something to enjoy, something to pass on, something to put into practise, something to live up to.

TELEPHONE TALKS IN THE WATSON FAMILY

This Family has no Distant Relatives

Not that the Watson family is so small. On the contrary, there are uncles, aunts, cousins, nephews, nieces and so on, scattered across the Dominion. But they never lose track of each other. Long Distance brings them together again on many anniversary and special occasions throughout the year . . . at surprisingly little cost.

Reductions in telephone rates — local and long distance — in 1935, '36 and '37 have effected savings to telephone users in Ontario and Quebec of nearly one million dollars yearly.
